1973-2012 AWARDS AND RACE STANDINGS

1973 – 2012 SPECIAL AWARDS & RECIPIENTS

Below is a list of awards given over time during the 41 year history of the Iditarod. The most current awards to be given in 2013 can be found in 2013 RACE INFORMATION GUIDE.

HONORARY MUSHERS

Leonhard Seppala was honored as the #1 musher through 1979. In 1980, the Iditarod Committee decided to have "Wild Bill" Shannon share the honor. Since then, the directors have chosen one or two people, not necessarily mushers, who have made a significant contribution to the sport of sled dog racing. The Honorary Musher is listed as the first one out of the starting chute.

LEONHARD SEPPALA HUMANITARIAN AWARD

This highly coveted award is presented to the musher who has best demonstrated outstanding care of his or her team throughout the race, while remaining competitive. Upon arrival in Nome, each of the top 20 teams will be judged based on those criteria. The recipient of this award receives a beautiful engraved lead crystal trophy and a free entry fee for the next year's Iditarod.

GCI DOROTHY G. PAGE HALFWAY AWARD

While there was obviously a "first musher to the halfway point" in every race, there are no records of which that person was prior to 1980 when the first Halfway Award was presented. GCI became the sponsor of this award in 1994. The winning musher receives the award on the spot and then it is symbolically presented in Nome. This award, given in honor of the late "Mother of the Iditarod," is presented in Iditarod in the odd years when the race follows the southern trail from Ophir to Kaltag, and at Cripple in the even years when the northern trail is followed. The first musher to Iditarod will receive a trophy and $3,000 in gold nuggets symbolic of the history of this interior area of the Iditarod Mining District. A beautiful perpetual trophy made of Alaskan birch and marble and featuring a photograph of the late Dorothy G. Page remains year round at Iditarod headquarters.

WELLS FARGO'S GOLD COAST AWARD

This was first presented in 1987 and again in 1988. The National Bank of Alaska (now Wells Fargo Bank Alaska) began sponsoring the award in 1993. The first musher into Unalakleet is presented with a beautiful trophy and $2,500 worth of gold nuggets. The presentation is made in Unalakleet and again at the banquet in Nome. A beautiful perpetual trophy commemorating this award is on display year round at the Iditarod headquarters.

WELLS FARGO RED LANTERN AWARD

The Red Lantern Award, presented annually by the Wells Fargo Bank Alaska (formerly the National Bank of Alaska), traditionally goes to the last musher across the finish line. The award is traditionally presented at the Red Lantern Banquet. However, in 1998 Brad Pozarnsky became the first (and still the only) red lantern winner to cross the finish line in time to be recognized at the first banquet in Nome.

PENAIR'S SPIRIT OF ALASKA AWARD

PenAir will give this award to the first musher into McGrath. The award was chosen to reflect the perseverance and hard work of the Iditarod mushers just as it serves as PenAir's slogan and embodies its long history in serving the state of Alaska. The musher will receive an original "spirit mask", especially created for this event by Bristol Bay artist, Orville Lind, and $500 credit on PenAir towards air travel or freight shipments.

EXXONMOBIL MUSHERS' CHOICE AWARD

Each year the official finishers make the decision as to who of their number was the most inspirational on the trail. Chevron took over this award in 2003. In 2010, the award was taken over by ExxonMobil and became the ExxonMobil Musers' Choice Award.

MILLENNIUM HOTEL'S FIRST MUSHER TO THE YUKON AWARD

This award was originally presented in 1983 and 1984. Three years later, race sponsor Regal Alaskan Hotel (now known as the Millennium Hotel Anchorage) began sponsoring this award. The winning musher receives a seven course dinner at either Ruby or Anvik (depending on whether the race is on the northern or southern route) and $3,500 in cash. At the banquet in Nome, this is presented again. A commemorative plaque hangs year round at Iditarod headquarters.

ROOKIE OF THE YEAR

There has obviously been a top finishing rookie in every Iditarod. The first three races were won by rookies. It wasn't until 1976 that the top finishing rookie was not the winner. In 1979, the city of St. Michael instituted an award honoring the top-finishing rookie. When the City elected not to continue the award the following year, Jerry and Clara Austin picked it up and continue to present the award each year. For purposes of this award, a rookie is defined as a musher racing his/her first Iditarod. Since 1981, Jerry and Clara Austin have been presenting a beautiful trophy to the top-placing rookie, along with a check for $1,500.

CITY OF NOME LOLLY MEDLEY MEMORIAL GOLDEN HARNESS AWARD
--

Lolly Medley, Wasilla harness maker and one of only two women to run the second Iditarod in 1974, has been presenting a golden harness to an outstanding lead dog, chosen by the mushers, since 1979. Lolly Medley died in August, 1996. The award continues in her honor, presented by the City of Nome.
