IDITAROD

CHAMPIONS LEAGUE

Like the wilderness? The Iditarod is a cool mushing race in Alaska that started in 1973. The first person to win the Iditarod was Dick Wilmarth. Throughout the race, you're alone with nature, dogs are pulling your sled, and you may come across dangerous animals such as moose. The Iditarod is special because the people who do it, don't do it for the money, they do it because they want to bond with the dogs, and they do it as a challenge. Many people have attempted this grueling race, but people have had to scratch because it is a tough race. I think it's special because no other sport has dogs, adventure, and teamwork in it.

Swoosh!! The ball goes into the net! The Champions League is an awesome tournament of soccer that only the best clubs play in. If your team wins, the people at the stadium set off fireworks the colors of your teams and your team gets a giant silver cup with ribbons tied around it. It only happens once a year. I think it's awesome. This game requires a lot of skill from each and every player of the team to enter. But the Iditarod is unique because no other sport or race has the same feeling or bond with the dogs.
